Our equality vision and the values that underpin school life

Vision, Aims and Mission Statement

At Woolenwick Junior School we aim to create a safe, secure and sustainable learning environment where children feel valued and happy and have a thirst for learning. We promote a positive and caring environment where children are encouraged, praised and taught to be responsible citizens and take an active role in the community in which they live. We are proud of our school and do our very best to provide a high quality service to our children and their parents.

We expect children to show a sense of responsibility and self-discipline towards learning and develop knowledge, skills, attitudes and values which will help prepare them and enable them to be successful in their life and the community in which they live.

We teach the children to learn about the importance of moral values such as honesty, respect, tolerance, sincerity, trust and personal responsibility. We aim to prepare our children for life in a modern democratic and ever changing society, where we actively celebrate diversity and ensure equality of opportunity. All children are accepted and respected at Woolenwick. We actively celebrate and embrace the different cultural and socio-economic backgrounds represented in our school and community in order to promote harmony.

At Woolenwick we believe that all children are capable of achieving the very highest standards in both their behaviour and their learning. We are committed to children leaving this school having achieved high standards in the basic skills of reading, writing and arithmetic. In addition, we aim to inspire them by offering an exciting and broad curriculum experience that includes the arts, music and sport. We seek to make a real difference to children's lives by providing them with the skills they require to be successful in the future.

3: Legal Background

The duties that underpin our scheme

Woolenwick Junior School is committed to meeting its public sector statutory duties as detailed below. We understand that the duties apply to service delivery and employment and staff management as well as policy development and implementation.

General Duty under the Equality Act 2010:

The purpose of this policy is to set out how our practice and policies have due regard to the need to:

- Eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation and any other conduct that is prohibited by or under this Act.
- Advance equality of opportunity between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and persons who do not share it.
- Foster good relations between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and persons who do not share it.

The Specific Duties of the Act enable schools to meet their obligations under the Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED). The specific duties require schools to:

- Publish annually information quantitative and qualitative, showing compliance with the public sector equality duty (PSED) set out in clause 149 of the Equality Act 2010.
- To set every four years one or more specific measurable equality objectives that further the aims of the equality duty.

Protected Characteristics

The Equality Act 2010 protects pupils from discrimination and harassment based on protected characteristics. The protected characteristics for school provisions are:

- age (for staff only)
- disability
- ethnicity and race
- gender (sex)
- gender identity and reassignment
- pregnancy, maternity and breast feeding
- religion and belief
- sexual orientation

Disability

At Woolenwick Junior School we implement accessibility plans which are aimed at:

- increasing the extent to which disabled pupils can participate in the curriculum;
- improving the physical environment of our school to enable disabled pupils to take better advantage of education, benefits, facilities and services provided;
- improving the availability of accessible information to disabled pupils.

Provision for disabled pupils, including arrangements for the admission of disabled children is closely linked with the existing provisions for pupils with special educational needs. These are the same duties as previously existed under the DDA and have been replicated in the Equality Act 2010.

Community Cohesion

- Community Cohesion supports good practice in educating pupils/students about equality and diversity. It contributes to the school's efforts to provide a broad, balanced curriculum.

For schools, the term community has a number of dimensions including:

- The school community
- The community within which the school is located
- The UK community within which the school is located
- The global community

In addition, schools themselves create communities. At Woolenwick Junior School, this includes networks such as NQT, Stevenage Heads, Deputies, co-ordinator group, family support, Stevenage Sporting Futures and Stevenage Educational Trust.

Woolenwick Junior School focuses on cohesion across different cultures, ethnic, religious and socio-economic groups (This policy encompasses our previous individual racial equality Policy, Gender Equality Policy, Disability Equality Policy and statements relating to gender, age and faith).

Community Cohesion in school can be broadly grouped into the following headings:

- Teaching, learning and curriculum – helping children and young people to learn to understand others, to value diversity whilst also promoting shared values, to promote awareness of human rights and to apply and defend them, and to develop skills of participation and responsible action, e.g. Identity and diversity in the citizenship, SEAL and PSHE curriculum.
- Equality and excellence – to ensure equal opportunities for all to succeed at the highest possible level, striving to remove barriers to access and participation in learning and wider activities and working to eliminate variations in outcomes for different groups.
- Engagement and extended services – to provide reasonable means for children, young people, their friends to interact with people from different backgrounds and build positive relationships: including links with different schools and communities and the provision of extended service with opportunities for pupils, families and the wider community to take part in activities and receive services which build positive interaction and achievement for all groups.

In addition to the general duties of Disability, Race and Gender that underpin the Equality and Diversity Policy, Woolenwick Junior School is committed to taking action on other equality strands. These include religion and belief, age and sexual orientation. We will also work hard to promote Community Cohesion. We will increase our focus on helping children and young people to learn to understand others, to value diversity, whilst also promoting shared values, to promote awareness of human rights and to apply and defend them and to develop the skills of participation and responsible action. We are committed to following DcSf guidance in providing:

- Teaching and curriculum provision that supports high standards of attainment, promotes common values and builds pupils' understanding of the diversity that surrounds them
- Lessons across the curriculum that promote common values and help pupils to value differences and challenge prejudice and stereotyping
- A programme of curriculum based activities, whereby pupils' understanding of community and diversity is enriched through Citizenship, PSHE, visits and meetings with members of different communities

The standard procedures and processes of Woolenwick Junior School – Other Equality Strands

Religion and Belief

The Equality Act (Religion and Belief) 2010 provides protection for individuals against discrimination on the grounds of religion or belief (including perceived religion, or lack of religion or belief) in employment, and when goods, facilities and services are being provided. This extends to the delivery of education and other services by schools.

Direct Discrimination – Treating a person less favourably than other people because of their religion or belief.

Indirect Discrimination – Having a policy or practice (formal or informal) that, although apparently neutral, puts people at a disadvantage because of their religion or belief (or lack of it).

Victimisation – Being treated unfairly as a result of making, or intending to make, a complaint of religion/belief related discrimination, or because they have helped another person to do so.

All pupils and parents, prospective pupils and their parents, staff and others using the school facilities are covered by the Act. The definition of religion and belief is wide enough to cover fringe or cult religions and a range of other philosophical beliefs, e.g. Humanism, but is not intended to include political beliefs (such as Communism) or support of a political party.

Lack of religion or belief is also included in the definition of ‘religion’ or ‘belief’. This means that it is unlawful to discriminate against someone on the grounds that they do not have any religion or belief (e.g. an atheist) or that they do not adhere or sufficiently adhere to a particular religion or belief.

All racial groups have protection under the Race Relations Act.

Schools must treat pupils equally and not subject them to any detriment, irrespective of their religion or belief, or lack of it. The duty covers:

- Admissions
- Exclusions
- Education
- Benefits, facilities and services
- Extended school services

Maintained schools are normally required to provide a daily act of collective worship of a broad Christian character (or different religions if a school has obtained a determination to modify their worship arrangements). This also extends to activities such as Christmas carol services, harvest festival, Diwali or other faith-based events.

Parents not wishing their children to participate in collective worship or other related activities have the right to withdraw them. However, parents of other religions or beliefs cannot discriminate because the school does not provide alternative provision for collective worship.

School uniform – It is the responsibility of the governing body to ensure that policies on uniform are fair and reasonable and take account of different social, religious or racial groups as with those of a disability or specific educational need.

Sexual Orientation

The Equality Act 2010 makes it unlawful to discriminate on the grounds of apparent or perceived sexual orientation in employment and when goods, facilities and other services are being provided. The regulations:

- Compel a school to treat bullying on the basis of sexual orientation as seriously as bullying on the grounds of race, gender or disability.
- Ensure all pupils have access to schooling and the benefits, facilities, or services provided at school, irrespective of their sexual orientation or that of their parents.

Direct Discrimination – Treating people less favourably than other people because of their sexual orientation, or the sexual orientation of a person with whom they are associated, such as a parent or friend.

Indirect Discrimination – Having a policy or practice that, although apparently neutral, puts people at a disadvantage because of their sexual orientation.

Victimisation – Being treated unfairly as a result of making, or intending to make, a complaint of discrimination on the grounds of sexual discrimination, or because they helped another person to do so.

All pupils, parents, prospective pupils and parents, staff and others using the school facilities are covered by this act. Trans-gender people are covered by the Sex Discrimination Act (amended in 2003).

Schools must treat pupils equally and not subject them to any detriment, irrespective of their apparent or perceived sexual orientation or that of their parents. The duty covers:

- Admissions
- Exclusions
- Education
- Benefits, facilities and services
- Extended schools services

Woolenwick Junior School will provide appropriate care and support for the emerging identity of young people. The anti – bullying policy contains specific reference to homophobic behaviour, with name-calling and homophobic bullying being treated as seriously as a racist incident.

Age

- Age discrimination in employment became unlawful on 1st October 2006.
- Regulations cover direct and indirect discrimination, harassment and victimisation, employers can be held responsible for the action of employees in all four cases.
- Regulations cover employment and vocational training.
- The regulations cover people of all ages, both old and young.
- All employers have new obligations to consider.
- Upper age limits for unfair dismissal and redundancy are removed.
- Occupational Pensions and Redundancy payments are covered by the regulations.
- Benefits based on length of service requirement of 5 years or less will be exempted and will be able to continue.

Clearly the regulations will impact on most, if not all, employment matters and will require a thorough review of existing policies, procedures and working practices in the areas of:

- Recruitment and selection
- Promotion
- Terms and conditions
- Pay and benefits
- Training and development
- Redundancy
- Retirement

“We have welcomed the participation and involvement of people from broad and diverse backgrounds and of different abilities by carrying out a stakeholder consultation.”

When deciding what to do to tackle equality issues, we will consult and engage both with people affected by our decisions – parents, pupils, staff, members of the local community – and with people who have special knowledge which can inform the school's approach, such as disability equality groups and other relevant special interest organisations.

Evidence of this engagement will be included in the published material showing how the duty has been addressed.

6: Using Information – Equality Impact Assessment, data and other information

Evaluating the impact in terms of the outcomes

Equality Impact Assessment (EQIAs)

EQIAs help us to ensure that there is no unlawful discrimination against certain individuals or groups and that the positive duties are promoted. It is a way to ensure we meet diverse needs of our pupils/students and staff and that diversity, equality and inclusion run through all areas of school life.
